

Jan Scholten

a seminar with a difference

KENYA | AFRICA | MARCH 2011

ONCE IN A LIFE TIME OPPORTUNITY TO LIVE HOMOEOPATHY!

Jan Scholten is looking for a team of homeopaths, prepared to journey to the beautiful island of Lamu to explore and research botanical and coral life on the island; to source, prepare, prove and document these discoveries. Since time began until this day medicinal use of plants in Africa is well documented and we would like to discover the homeopathic qualities of some of these facilitated by Jan Scholten.

Provings will be done in groups of three or four people. At the end of each day the experiences will be shared and Jan will explain his ideas and visions, their family themes and connections with the mineral kingdom, herbalism, mythology and other information. Places have been limited to 30 to ensure, that research and provings can be thorough and also to create a memorable intimacy.

Lamu is a beautiful island just off the east African coast in the Indian Ocean, boasting the most stunning beaches, coral and botanical diversity. Classified as an UNESCO cultural world heritage site where rock stars and backpackers live as if the moment matters. There are no cars on Lamu, except for one military jeep. You can be utterly alone on seven kilometers of coral rock beach except for the camels that pass by in the afternoon on their way to pasture in the sand dunes. Take the plunge and dive in - and of course the most wonderful holiday - in great company!
